Introduction

Iowa State University benefits from public recognition of its names, symbols, logos and other identifying marks (Marks). If properly used and managed, these Marks give a unifying look, which is critical to establishing a visual presence within the world of university communities. This look becomes identified with the quality of Iowa State's programs, products and services and distinguishes its programs from other universities.

With students, alumni, and friends of Iowa State residing around the world, a demand exists for the use of the university's Marks. Although a desire to associate with the university may come from a genuine spirit of support, it is in the university's best interest to protect and control the use of the Marks.

Federal, state, and common laws govern the university's rights to its Marks. These laws place an obligation on the university to control its Marks to avoid misrepresentation of the university's relationship to a product or service. Without proper control, the university risks losing its exclusive rights to its Marks. Licensing others to use the Marks and monitoring their use provides the needed control.

The university has delegated the management of its Marks to the Trademark Licensing Office (Trademark Licensing) housed under the Office of Senior Vice President for Business and Finance and contracted with The Licensing Resource Group to assist in the administration and marketing of the marks. This policy sets forth the basis of Trademark Licensing's management of the university's Marks. The term university includes the university, its affiliated organizations, and organizations formally registered with the university.

The five main goals of this management policy are to:

- Promote and protect Iowa State University through implementation of a management system, which establishes the means for consistent, favorable, and professional use of the Marks;
- Fulfill the legal obligation to protect the Marks;
- Protect the consumer from deception or from faulty or inferior products and services bearing the university's Marks;
- Provide fair and equitable treatment of all licensees; and
- Realize and distribute earned royalties and other revenues for the benefit of the university.
Policy Statement

Legal protection and enforcement

Legal protection and enforcement of the university’s rights in the Marks is under Trademark Licensing’s management with certain responsibilities delegated to The Licensing Resource Group.

External use

External use of the Marks by external entities is managed by Trademark Licensing with certain responsibilities delegated to The Licensing Resource Group under the following principles:

Licensing is required for all non-university users.

The Marks must be licensed to the user and the use approved by Trademark Licensing, except when the use is:

- By the news media for news reporting;
- By an artist in an original work of art which will not be reproduced; or
- A congratulatory or supportive advertising message using the university’s names but not its logos and symbols. For example, "Go Cyclones" or "Welcome Back ISU Students" are supportive types of messages.

Suppliers of products to the university bearing any Mark must be licensed except when Marks are used on the following products:

- Printed publications and advertising for purposes of institutional and event promotion; and
- Printed supplies, not for resale.

Royalties are collected for non-university and/or commercial uses.

A royalty exemption (but not a license exemption) may be granted for:

- A product purchased by the university or a university recognized support group such as professional associations, employee organizations, athletic, cultural, and other interest groups for internal consumption or for sale at cost to their members. Promotional products given away by these groups are considered products for internal consumption. If the group has excess product after consumption or sale within its group, it cannot be sold to non-members, but can be given away to non-members.
- Advertising rights to use the Marks as granted in corporate sponsor agreements.

Licenses are generally non-exclusive.

Licenses are generally non-exclusive except for special programs initiated by the university.

The university’s Licensing Program Guidelines for the Use of Iowa State University Marks provides the management details (see Resources below).
Internal use

Use of the Marks by entities internal to the university is managed by the university executive officers including the president, senior vice president and provost, vice presidents, vice provosts, deans, directors, and affiliated organization directors.

- Internal uses, which fall within the ordinary business of the university, do not require licensing. Products created by a university unit for resale, and bearing the Marks must be licensed, except for educational and scholarly materials owned by the university and printed publications and advertising for purposes of institutional and event promotion.
- Royalties are not payable on internal uses, which do not require licensing.

The Guidelines for the Internal Use of Iowa State University’s Marks and the Guidelines for University Trademark Use by Student and Campus Organizations provide the management details (see Resources below).

Trademark Marketing Advisory Committee

The university president appoints a Trademark Marketing Advisory Committee to advise Trademark Licensing in addressing issues related to the marketing of the university Marks. The advisory committee consists of marketing representatives from university units which may provide a unique perspective and which are key stakeholders in the use of the Marks.

Distribution of Revenues

Net revenues are distributed to university units under a policy determined by the university president. Distribution is approved by the Vice President for Business and Finance.
