Introduction

Iowa State University recognizes the fundamental importance of providing an inclusive and welcoming environment for all members of our community. Indeed, the university's Principles of Community include respect, richness of diversity, and freedom from discrimination. Consequently, ISU is committed to assuring that its educational programs and activities and employment terms and conditions are free from unlawful discrimination and harassment on the basis of age, color, creed, disability, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, pregnancy, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, and protected U.S. veteran status.

This policy and the accompanying procedures, applications, and guidance document (collectively referred to hereafter as the "policy") defines discrimination, harassment, and other important terms; sets forth the services and resources available to individuals impacted by discrimination and harassment and/or involved in a complaint filed pursuant to this policy; and explains the internal administrative procedures the university uses to respond to reports of discrimination and harassment. As detailed in the policy, the university provides prompt, fair, and impartial resolution processes for complaints filed under this policy and, where appropriate, administers reasonable interim remedial measures. Individuals found responsible for violating this policy may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including removal from the university. top

Policy Statement

In accordance with federal and state law, Iowa State University ("ISU" or the "university") does not discriminate on the basis of age, color, creed, disability, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, pregnancy, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, and protected U.S. veteran status (collectively referred to as "Protected Status") in its programs, activities, or employment.

This policy prohibits all forms of unlawful discrimination and harassment based on Protected Status. In addition, this policy prohibits purposefully assisting in an act that violates this policy (i.e., complicity) and prohibits retaliation against any individual who in good faith participates in protected activity pursuant to this policy. This policy also provides for the prompt and equitable resolution of reports of discrimination, harassment, complicity, and retaliation. The university's Office of Equal Opportunity \(OEO\) is responsible for administering this policy on behalf of the university.

All ISU administration, supervisors, faculty, staff, and students are responsible for successfully completing the university's annual non-discrimination, anti-harassment, and anti-retaliation training program. The training program is specifically designed for its target audience (e.g., students, staff, faculty, supervisors, etc.) and is intended to assist university community members in understanding this policy.

The university has a separate policy that governs concerns of T itle IX sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking. These concerns are governed by the university's Title IX Sexual Harassment, Sexual Assault, Dating Violence, Domestic Violence, and Stalking Policy. Nothing in this policy shall be deemed to conflict, contradict, or supersede the Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy with respect to conduct governed by that policy. The university also has a separate Non-Retaliation Policy that prohibits prohibited retaliation against persons who engage in protected activity. top

Scope of Policy

This policy applies to all individuals affiliated with the university, including students, staff, faculty, applicants for admission to or employment with the university, and individuals participating or seeking to participate in university programs or activities. Vendors, independent contractors, visitors, and others who conduct business with the university or on university property are also governed by this policy, although the university's ability to address conduct by third-parties may be more limited. In addition, recognized student and campus organizations are governed by this policy in accordance with the Student Code of Conduct. This policy applies to discrimination, harassment, complicity, and retaliation that occurs on-campus; during or at official university programs or activities (regardless of location); and off-campus conduct when the conduct unreasonably impacts a person's employment or education with the university or ability to participate in or benefit from the university's programs or activities. Even when the reported perpetrator of prohibited conduct is not within the university's control, the university can provide reasonable resources and support to impacted parties, and where appropriate, refer complaints to other entities.

To promote timely and effective review and response to reports of prohibited conduct, the university strongly encourages individuals to come forward as soon as possible with their inquiries, reports, and complaints and to seek assistance from the university. Delays in reporting may impact the university's ability to respond fully to the matter, including pursuing disciplinary action. Consistent with federal and state regulations governing the filing of complaints, the university may decline to investigate claims in which none of the alleged discrimination or harassing conduct occurred within the preceding 300 calendar days. Resources and Reporting Options

In an emergency call 911.

The university offers a range of resources to students, staff, faculty, and third-parties dealing with incidents of discrimination and harassment. Individuals have options, including contacting and making a report with the Office of Equal Opportunity \(OEO\), contacting and making a report with an external governmental agency, and/or seeking assistance, services, and support from campus resources. These resources are detailed below and are identified as either campus reporting resources, confidential or campus confidential resources, or external reporting resources.

With respect to the university's processes and resources related to reports of discrimination and harassment, it is important to consider the related issues of privacy and confidentiality. While these terms sound similar, they are distinct concepts. It is also important to understand the different reporting responsibilities that university employees and resources have. While all employees and resources are committed to respecting the privacy of all individuals involved in reports of possible policy violations, only certain specifically identified resources are able to discuss concerns of discrimination and harassment confidentially (i.e., without notifying the Office of Equal Opportunity). Additional information regarding privacy and confidentiality may be found in the online Procedures, Applications, and Guidelines document. top

Campus Reporting Resources

Individuals who wish to put the university on notice of potential violations of this policy should contact ISU's Office of Equal Opportunity \(OEO\). The university encourages all individuals to report potential incidents of discrimination and harassment to OEO. Supervisory employees (i.e., any ISU staff or faculty member who supervises another employee) are required to contact OEO when they become aware of potential violations of this policy. In addition, all ISU Responsible Employees are responsible for contacting OEO when they become aware of potential violations of this policy.

Individuals can make a report and/or seek guidance from OEO in person, by telephone, or by email at:

Office of Equal Opportunity (OEO)

Coordinates the university's comprehensive response to reports of discrimination, harassment, and retaliation on the basis of Protected Status
3410 Beardshear Hall
Telephone: 515-294-7612
Hotline: 515-294-1222
Email: eooffice@mail.iastate.edu
Website: <http://www.eoc.iastate.edu/>

Individuals wishing to remain anonymous can make a report through OEO's hotline at 515-294-1222, or through an anonymous email account to eooffice@iastate.edu, or by submitting a report through the university's Compliance and Ethics Online Hotline. It is important to note that electing to remain anonymous may greatly limit the university's ability to stop the reported conduct, collect evidence, and take effective remedial action against individuals or organizations accused of violating this policy. top

Campus Support and Services Resources

The Office of Equal Opportunity \(OEO\) has primary responsibility for administering this policy and overseeing the response, investigation, and resolution of reports of discrimination and harassment. As such, reports and concerns of discrimination and harassment should be directed to OEO. The campus resources listed below are available to provide assistance and support to individuals potentially impacted by discrimination and harassment.

Confidential and Campus Confidential Resources

Confidential resources are identified as "confidential" or "campus confidential" below. Confidential and campus confidential resources enable individuals to learn more about the process and/or seek assistance without initiating a formal or informal complaint. Confidential and campus confidential resources are not required to notify OEO of reports of discrimination or harassment that they receive. Importantly, speaking with a confidential or campus confidential resource does not initiate an investigation and will not, without additional action by the reporting party, result in intervention or corrective action. However, upon written request from the reporting party, confidential resources may notify OEO and/or assist the reporting party in notifying OEO. top
