19 Introduction

20 Iowa State University is required by federal and state laws to keep certain information confidential. Privacy and confidentiality 21 must be balanced with the need for the university to manage and maintain networks and systems against improper use and 22 misconduct.

23 Policy Statement

24 1. Privacy and Confidentiality

25 To the extent permitted by law and university policy, Iowa State university maintains and protects both the privacy of 26 individuals and the confidentiality of official information stored on its information technology (IT) systems. While the university
27 permits limited incidental use of its IT resources, users of those resources do not acquire an expectation of privacy in 28 communications transmitted or stored on university information technology resources. In order to comply with the law, 29 university officials may have direct access to stored information as described below.

31 2. Exceptions to Privacy of Information

32 Data traversing or stored in university systems are subject to disclosure requests under public records law, under subpoena, 33 and in the discovery process in litigation. Iowa State University may preserve, access, monitor, or disclose information 34 containing all classes of data as described in the Data Classification policy (policy is pending; see Resources 35 below) residing on its information networks and systems in the following situations:

36 2.1 State and Federal Law

37 All information including the personal, academic, or research data and files residing on university systems is subject to state 38 and federal laws and regulations requiring its disclosure, including laws on public records, court-ordered disclosure, and 39 discovery in litigation.

40 2.2 Proxy Access to Accounts Necessary to Conduct Business or Research

41 Faculty and staff may need access to accounts of other faculty and staff when that individual is not available but access is 42 needed to conduct university business or further research. Approval to access the account should be given either by prior 43 proxy access to the individual's account or by written recommendation and justification by the individual's department chair 44 or director and approval by a senior vice president or the senior vice president and provost or other designee acting on the 45 basis of university policy and law.

46 2.3 Investigations

47 Iowa State University may preserve, access, or monitor accounts and equipment during the course of an investigation of 48 misconduct, violations of law, or violations of university policy by students or employees. Access must be approved in writing 49 by the senior vice president for business and finance, senior vice president and provost, or other designee acting on the 50 basis of university policy and law. In accessing the account or equipment, university officials are expected to avoid accessing 51 information that is personal and irrelevant to the investigation.

53 2.4 Official University Business

54 As part of their assigned responsibilities, Iowa State University faculty and staff may have access to all classes of data and 55 are restricted to using it only for purposes associated with the requirements of their position.

56 2.5 Internal Administrative Disclosure

57 Disclosure or use of any information containing data with a high or moderate security category for extraordinary 58 circumstances must be approved in writing by the senior vice president for business and finance, senior vice president and 59 provost, or other designee acting on the basis of university policy and law.

60 2.6 Maintenance of Iowa State University Network and Systems

61 Iowa State University reserves the right to maintain its information systems; to audit networks and systems on a periodic 62 basis to ensure compliance with security policies; and to locate and resolve security breaches or other situations that 63 potentially impact the reliability, robustness, or security of the campus network and systems infrastructure. Individuals 64 performing these functions or others may have access to information containing all classes of data and are restricted to 65 using it only for purposes associated with their position.

67 2.7 Legal Disclosure Requests

68 Iowa State University may preserve, access, and disclose information contained in its IT systems in response to a lawfully
69 issued records request, subpoena, court order, or other compulsory legal process (“disclosure request”). To the extent 70 possible and practical, the account holders for email and electronic files will be notified in advance of access or disclosure.

71 The public records officer, the research integrity officer or an attorney in the Office of University Counsel may order 72 preservation of electronic records to comply with a disclosure request or to preserve records for purposes that may relate to 73 pending investigations or litigation.

74 Access to email and electronic files must first be approved by the senior vice president for business and finance, senior vice 75 president and provost, or the president. Upon approval, attorneys in the Office of University Counsel may request or conduct 76 targeted searches of electronic files to find material relevant to the disclosure request. In accessing the files, attorneys shall 77 limit access to material that is relevant to the disclosure request.

78 2.8 Health and Safety Emergency

79 In the event of a health or safety emergency, Iowa State University may preserve, access, or disclose information containing 80 all classes of data necessary and relevant to addressing the emergency situation.

81 2.9 Authorization

82 Iowa State University may preserve, access, or disclose information containing all classes of data relating to an individual 83 student or employee upon the written authorization of the individual student or employee.
